8TH DISTRICT LOAN DIRECTOR SOUNDS CALL TO VICTORY

"GET BACK ON THE JOB" IS MESSAGE TO WORKERS IN LIBERTY NOTE CAMPAIGN.

TO BE EASIEST TO SELL

Going to Battle Line With Same Enthusiasm As in the Previous Bond Drives.

By WM. R. COMPTON,
Federal Director of War Loan.

This will be the last of all the great loans which the Liberty Loan Organization has been called upon to place and when the campaign closes on May 10th, the job will be finished. Success will surely come to the Eighth District, as it has in previous campaigns, and we shall leave behind us an unbroken record, and history will know that the people of this section of America proudly accomplished their portion of the financial undertakings of our Government incident to the great war for Freedom and Liberty.

I have heard some people express the thought that since the armistice was signed there is no individual responsibility to finance our nation. I am firmly convinced that this is not the thought of the great American people and when there has been brought squarely home to them the realization that the debts and obligations of the United States of America are the debts of each individual, that severally and collectively, when we entered this war we pledged our entire assets and income to carry on until the last penny had been paid, and that national honor can only be saved through each individual doing his part to maintain the credit of our great country, there will be no trouble in placing this loan as others have been placed heretofore.

The loan will be attractive as to terms, maturity and payment. It will mean an investment which will be sought after by men of wealth as well as those of modest means; but it must be remembered that no financial undertaking running into the billions of dollars can be placed entirely with people who have idle money and who are seeking investment in an interest bearing security. It therefore becomes necessary for each to do his or her share.

Someone said that a part of this money was wasted. My answer to this is that war is waste. It is waste of life, of human energy, of property, of raw material. It is waste of mentality. We undertook to do a tremendous job and to finish it at the earliest possible moment. It was finished—months, nay years, in anticipation of the wildest dreams of our people. It was finished because of a reckless expenditure of funds; it was finished in time to avoid the slaughter and sacrifice of hundreds of thousands of our gallant young men. It was finished in time to avoid the payment of billions upon billions of dollars which would have been incident to even one year more of active warfare, and in the waste of hurried preparedness we saved. We saved all that was dear to us—first and greatest of all, the lives of our sons; and, second, our material, property and income—and we may share for all time to come the freedom of a free people. We have little to grumble about and everything for which to be thankful.

I send this message to every faithful Liberty Loan worker: Get back of the Victory Loan; do it quickly! Promote enthusiasm in your city, county, community. This should be and this will be the easiest loan of all to sell and we are going to the battle line with the same enthusiasm, with the same determination for success, that brought victory to the great American Army on the far distant shores of suffering France on that fateful day of November 11, 1918!

GREATEST WAR PICTURES

Treasury Department to Send Out Drawing, "The Price of Peace."

The Treasury Department is soon to send out over the country the greatest war picture ever drawn. It will be called "The Price of Peace" and is an assemblage of the most thrilling of the thousands of feet of film taken by official photographers of the war college who followed the Yank from his home to the front and back again.

The film will be released only through Liberty Loan committees and will be shown free.

IF YOU DON'T LIKE OUR LIBERTY LOAN, TRY GERMANY'S.

THE VICTORY LOAN.

Now guns of war are rusting,
No more the legions smash,
The weed springs in the dugout,
The battle fire is ash.
So hark off to the doughboy,
And hats off to the girl,
The Victory Loan is coming,
Let's finish up the job!

SHRINKAGE OF CORN AND WHEAT IN STORAGE

Ear corn loses from 5 per cent to 30 per cent of its weight in the first year of storage, the loss being greater with poorly matured than with well matured corn, and with dry fall weather than with rainy weather. Exceptionally soft corn may shrink as much as 30 per cent. Most of the loss occurs in the first six months. After corn is thoroughly air dried its weight fluctuates with the moisture in the air, varying as much as 3 per cent. The shrinkage is largely water but there is some loss of dry matter.

Wheat loses 2 per cent to 3 per cent during the sweating process and afterward fluctuates in weight with the humidity, the extreme variation being about 6 per cent from the original total weight.

BUNGALOW IDEAL FOR SMALL FAMILY

Convenient Arrangement Appeals to the Housekeeper.

ECONOMICAL IN MANY WAYS

Design Shows Comfortable Home That Can Be Erected and Maintained at Comparatively Small Cost.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 127 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

Planning a home now is much like buying a Liberty bond—it not only is a patriotic duty, but it is the best investment any man with a family can make. The government is urging everyone to build so that the labor of the country that has been released through the cessation of hostilities may be employed. At the same time, buying a home means providing against the future, which is worth while, no matter what sacrifices have to be made.

But leaving out the considerations of patriotism and being provident, there are advantages in owning a home that more than balance any slight privation that is required to secure it. The home owner is the best man in his community. He is stable and is regarded as a real part of the life of his home town. He is the substantial man of the neighborhood in which he lives, not merely a floater, who has no ties to bind him to the social and business life that is around him.

Buying a home might be compared with going in swimming for the first time in the season. The initial plunge is dreaded; but after it has been made, how invigorating and satisfying is the water. Making up the mind to buy a home is the hardest part of becoming the owner of one. When the initial payment is made and the owner has taken possession, he is repaid for his action so many times that he cannot understand why he had not taken the plunge before.

A home is within the easy reach of every man who has any sort of a standing in his community. Banks would rather loan money to the home builder of their town than to almost any other individual.

No Waste in Modern Homes.

Modern homes are designed so that there is no waste space in them. Every nook is utilized and floor plans are made with the idea in mind that it is not the number of rooms, but the conveniences and comfort the rooms will afford that is of the most importance.

The modern bungalow is an exemplification of this idea. "A small house with a great many large rooms in it" always has been the ideal of the housekeeper. While this is obviously impossible, the bungalow comes near to realizing this ideal. There are few rooms but they are large and being all on the same floor give an idea of spaciousness.

The accompanying illustration shows a five-room bungalow of the latest design. It will suit the requirements of a small family; has not a large number of rooms to be taken care of, and provides for every modern convenience and comfort. The bungalow is suitable for any community, city, town or country.

The accompanying floor plan shows how conveniently the rooms are arranged and the comforts that have been provided. The house contains five rooms, living room, dining room, kitchen and two bedrooms and bath.

The plan also provides for a basement under the whole house.

Outdoor Sitting Room.

The house is 30 by 44 feet, including the front porch projection. The living room is 12 feet 9 inches, by 17 feet. Opening off it is the front porch, 5 by 17 feet. This can easily be screened in the summer, and makes a commodious outdoor sitting room. To the rear of the living room is the dining room, 12 feet 6 inches by 17 feet. Back of the dining room is the kitchen, 10 by 11 feet. One end is cut off for the pantry, while a door at the other leads to the back porch, 6 feet 6 inches by 12 feet.

A door from the living room leads into a hall, at each end of which are bedrooms, while the bath is in the center. The front bedroom is 12 feet 9 inches by 13 feet and extends to a line with the front of the porch, making an exceptionally attractive sleeping room. The back bedroom is 12 feet 6 inches by 12 feet 9 inches. A good-sized closet adjoins each bedroom.

The basement is divided into two sections, one 17 feet 3 inches, by 27 feet, and the other 12 feet 9 inches, by 25 feet. In the larger of the two basement rooms is the chimney, so located that it rises through one corner of the kitchen.

This bungalow is economical in all ways, cost of construction, cost of upkeep and if modern conveniences are installed will make an exceptionally comfortable home—a house that has everything that the word "home" implies.

Plans May Be Altered.

The plans for this bungalow are susceptible to almost any change that the home builder desires. While no provision is made for a fireplace, one can easily be added. Also it may be that the lot is so located that a different exposure is wanted. In this case, the plans may be reversed and the living and dining rooms and kitchen placed where the bedrooms are.

Consultation with the local builder and lumber dealer will quickly reveal the cost of this bungalow. Also valuable advice as to the kinds of materials and equipment to be used in this bungalow can be secured from them.

As was said at the beginning, owning a home is the best investment a man who is at the head of a family can make. And the person who decides to make that investment will find the banks, the real estate men and the builders and building-material dealers ready to help him. Coupled with these facts, there is now the added inducement that by building this season, the home owner will have performed a patriotic duty.

Great Men Are Bold.

Were one to analyze the careers of 200 or 300 of our leading men of finance and industry it would probably develop that not half of them continued in the line of business in which they started, but struck boldly out in the direction where they saw the biggest opportunities and where their inclination lay.

One of the earliest and most notable instances of this was Commodore Vanderbilt, who was so old before he turned to railroading that his family and his advisers importuned him to let well enough alone and not to enter an entirely new field at his time of life.

This readiness of brainy giants to take up new things and to throw their whole selves into them is really one of the principal reasons why the United States has led the world in so many lines of endeavor. Wealthy Europeans, as a rule, avoid the new, avoid untrodden paths; they are inclined to worship precedent.

The Riches of Friendship.

We are rich when we have friends, real friends who love us, friends who see our faults and still care for us in spite of them. A palace would not be a home without such a friend in it. Money buys many counterfeit friends, but no real ones. No one could be poorer than the man who has everything but friends, and the one whose life is crowned with friendship is rich enough.—Girl's Companion.

By Twelve Bottles of PERUNA

Greatest Human Vitalizer

"During the winters of 1897 and 1898, I was so badly afflicted with catarrh of the head and throat I must surely die from it. After trying many doctors and all other recommended remedies made known to me, I was induced to use Peruna. I was cured entirely by using twelve bottles of Peruna and one bottle of Manalin."

Since that time, I have never been without Peruna. I use it for colds and as a general tonic during Spring and Fall months and find it the greatest human vitalizer."
